Dear Zhejing

Please review this version.

I think that this manuscript did not make clarified their contribution, which needs to be explained at the beginning of the Introduction section.

Please send your comments for authors to make further revision.

Thank you very much,

Best
Zhenjiang

Comments to “Community Participation Pattern in Communally Village Land Utilization”

- This paper addresses an important topic in urban planning and management. But there are some points that need improvements.
- The abstract is not clearly structured, which needs to explicitly state background, research question, results, and implications. Currently, the abstract seems lack of a clear summary of results.
- In the first paragraph of the introduction section, it is abrupt to state the research purpose in the first sentence without much context. This will confuse the readers of why you are doing this research.
- “The purpose of this study is to explore the role and model of community participation and determine the type of financing for each function of a facility or building that is built on village land.” The research purpose is abstruse and it is hard to understand the key points that are addressed. Please rephrase your research question or purpose and minimize the propositions use.
- The literature review is lacking. Otherwise, people do not know what kind of gap you are filling.
- The whole introduction part is too long. You can add a new section “background” to include context information. Usually, an introduction needs to be concise and explicit, telling the readers the importance and reasons of doing the research. Also, current manuscript did not clarify the contribution, which needs to be explained in the introduction section.
- The figure 1 should be renamed as study area. It is better to reproduce a map rather than using the map from a public source. Many legends are not very clear and thus should be removed. It is the same for figure 3.
- What do the legends in figure 4 mean? It is unfamiliar to new readers. It is better to translate them into common terms.
- Grammar errors in the title of figure 5.
- The result section is somewhat loose, and it is hard to find connections between the sub sections. What is the relationship between partnership, breeder contribution, participation pattern, farmers organizations, and distance of house? It is better to explain at first of why you are addressing these five points and use a clue to stich every part together.
- For 3.1, why is there a background again? It is coupled with introduction section.
- It is difficult to follow the thoughts in the discussion part. It is better to summarize the existing problems or local experience you discovered through your research, and then discuss the strategies or implications.
- In section 5, there is no summary of your findings. You can move recommendations to the section 4, and only conclude with major findings in this section.
- The wording for the paper needs to be polished to have a clear structure of sections, paragraphs, and sentences.
- Please check whether the word count is enough for IRSPSD.
