Dear Surizki Febrianto,

I am pleased to inform you that an editor has reviewed your submission, Electronic Auction Regulations and the Constitutional Right to Public Services: Legal Certainty and User Satisfaction at the State Assets and Auction Service Office (KPKNL), and has decided to send it for peer review. An editor will identify qualified reviewers who will provide feedback on your submission.

This journal conducts double-anonymous peer review. The reviewers will not see any identifying information about you or your co-authors. Similarly, you will not know who reviewed your submission, and you will not hear from the reviewers directly. You will hear from us with feedback from the reviewers and information about the next steps.

Please note that sending the submission to peer review does not guarantee that it will be published. We will consider the reviewers' recommendations before deciding to accept the submission for publication. You may be asked to make revisions and respond to the reviewers' comments before a final decision is made.

If you have any questions, please contact me from your submission dashboard.

Dear Surizki Febrianto,

After reviewing your submission, Electronic Auction Regulations and the Constitutional Right to Public Services: Legal Certainty and User Satisfaction at the State Assets and Auction Service Office (KPKNL), the reviewers have recommended that your submission cannot be accepted for publication in its current form. However, we would like to encourage you to submit a revised version that addresses the reviewers' comments. Your revisions will be reviewed by an editor and may be sent out for another round of peer review.

Please note that resubmitting your work does not guarantee that it will be accepted.

The reviewers' comments are included at the bottom of this email. Please respond to each point and identify what changes you have made. If you find any of the reviewer's comments inappropriate, please explain your perspective. If you have questions about the recommendations in your review, please include these in your response.

When you have completed your revisions, you can upload revised documents along with your response to the reviewers' comments at your submission dashboard. If you have been logged out, you can login again with the username surizkifebrianto.

If you have any questions, please contact me from your submission dashboard.

We look forward to receiving your revised submission.

Kind regards,

Harry Setya Nugraha, S.H., M.H
